AMERICAN DISPATCHES.

A SMUGGLER'S SLOOP CAPTURED AT PORT TOWNSEND.

Governor Waterman Speaks His Mind About Prize Fighting—Rotten Ships on Shoal Harbor—Winner of the Ascot Stakes—General News Summary.

NAPA, Cal., June 18.—Mrs. Margaret Markle, convicted of manslaughter for the killing of Joseph Vonwyle recently, was sentenced to five years in states prison this morning. The judge denied a new trial and ignored the affidavit of Christian Merkle, the woman's husband, in which he says that he, and not his wife, killed Vonwyle, in self defence during a row in which they were all engaged.

A Faith Healer Mobbed.

ST. LOUIS, June 18.—Mrs. Maria B. Woodworth, the evangelist, who created so much excitement in Oakland, Cal., by her tent meetings, and whose followers predicted the destruction of San Francisco and Oakland by a tidal wave, was mobbed last night. She has been preaching in a tent since her advent here some six weeks ago. She has been predicting all sorts of disasters and spreading the doctrine of faith healing. Last night a mob tore down her tent, broke up the seats and dispersed the congregation. Many of the women fainted but none were seriously injured.

LONDON, June 18.—The Ascot stakes were won by Sir R. Jardine's Lord Lorne, Barfleur second, Lilo of Lumby third.

The Cloakmakers' Strike.

NEW YORK, June 18.—Ten thousand cloak makers, tailors, finishers, cutters, pressers and operators struck to-day in sympathy with the locked out cloak makers. They say that they are strong enough to fight their own battles and will not have anything to do with the state board arbitration.

House Stenographer Dead.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Private advices received here report the death of John McElhone at Atlantic City at noon yesterday of paralysis. McElhone has been chief stenographer of the House of Representatives for many years and he was about 59 years of age.

Rotten Ships.

ASTORIA, June 18.—Inspectors Edwards and McDermott returned from South Bend to-day, where they have been looking over the different vessels running on Shoalwater Bay. This is their first trip up there. They inspected the J. C. Colman, Hattie and Tom Morris, and made a brief examination of the Mountain Bird and Eclipse, but these will be inspected later. The Coleman was found in good condition with the exception of the boiler, upon which repairs were ordered, a good sized patch will have to be put on. The Hattie was sound in every respect, and her machinery and boiler in good repair. The hull of the Tom Morris was found to be rotten from one end to the other, and the vessel was condemned. The owner will not be permitted to repair her, but must get a new hull. Her machinery was not inspected. The vessel is the oldest on Shoalwater bay, and has lately been carrying large numbers of passengers and at the same time loaded down with freight. While she was licensed to carry but seventeen passengers, she has at times had as many as fifty aboard. It has been known for a long time that the vessel was unsafe, but no one thought she was so thoroughly rotten. While the South Bend was not inspected, a cursory examination showed that she would probably be condemned and have to have a new hull. As to the violations of the law in carrying too many passengers and having passengers in the pilot house, no proceedings were commenced though many infractions of law were discovered. Captain Edwards stated that no charges would be preferred, but that captains would be notified to obey regulations and the offenses would be held over them for prosecution in case there were any more violations.

Diseased Meat.

CHICAGO, June 18.—With inspector known to be working in the slaughter house of Jacob Hess to prevent surreptitious preservation of meat of lumpy jaw cattle, the forbidden practice was discovered last night in full blast, so at least representatives of the city health department declare. The inference drawn is that the tainted meat at cheap prices, but all profit, was to be marketed, through peddlers, in the artisan districts in Chicago. Apparently each elevator load of meat, hence be hoisted to the upper floors of the slaughter-house for deadening in reeking vats, was for a moment lowered to the basement and the best quarters and most valuable meat secretly unloaded, after which the elevator again started upward to the rendering vats. Just 2700 pounds of alleged diseased meat was found hidden away in the basement. The disclosure was made by city officials and is being used by them to support their oft-made charge that the state inspectors are remarkably corrupt, and that the inspection should be done by the city.

A Cyclone Pain.

BENSON, Ariz., June 18.—A cyclone passed over Southern Arizona yesterday afternoon, lasting some hours. From Nogales to the railroad and from Colorado river to the New Mexico line, the valleys are covered with the [illegible]. For some years the ranges of the territory have been overstocked, but no really evil consequences had been felt until this dry season, and now the losses are very great. The splendid rain of yesterday was a godsend.

Guy Mc-Gover Acquitted.

BOYNE, Mont., June 18.—Thomas Bryant, the boy who killed his father in February last, has been acquitted.

Has Had a Good Effect.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—Owing to the Governor's letter to the Attorney General urging him to take steps looking to the suppression of prize fighting in this city, and the declaration of the chief of police that he will arrest every person connected with the next fight that takes place, the directors of the California Athletic Club will meet this afternoon and postpone the LaBlanch-Young Mitchell battle, which was to take place at their club rooms on the 27th. There is some talk of the men meeting on the outside if the action is taken.

Retracted at the Last Moment.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 18.—Dr. T. T. Berry, of Louisville, and John Blankenbaker, a farmer, living near Fisherville, this county, settled a quarrel on the dueling field. Berry claimed that Blankenbaker had slandered him and demanded a written retraction. This Blankenbaker refused and Berry challenged him. They had their pistols raised ready to fire, when Blankenbaker called out to stop as he thought it would be an irreparable wrong if he should kill Berry, and that he must remember his wife and children. He would sign a retraction and so it was settled.

Drought in New Mexico.

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M., June 18.—Herders in from C. W. Lewis' sheep ranch, on the Rio Puercio, give discouraging news regarding the condition of the flocks. They state that the country has not had rain for several months. Grass is short and water scarce, and sheep especially lambs, are suffering greatly. They say that the distress among the stock is general, and that the ranchers are driving their flocks from the plains to the mountains. It is their opinion that if the Rio Puercio is not visited by good rains in a few days thousands of sheep will perish from starvation.

Death by Drowning.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18. — A. B. Hendell, a seaman on the ship Arabia, wheat laden for Liverpool, fell overboard and was drowned. Hendell's sister visited the ship this morning to bid her brother good-bye as the vessel was to sail at noon and was deeply distressed when told of his death.

Odd Probs.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—Rain is predicted for Oregon and Washington until to-morrow morning.

The C. P. R. Racking It.

CHICAGO, June 18.—The latest report confirming the proposed Toledo and Western Railway are to the effect that the Canadian Pacific is behind it. It is said that they are not content with having to rely for their Chicago business on mere traffic arrangements with the Wabash. President Hadley claims that the road is sure to be built. He says he has three million dollars cash, and can get whatever additional sum is required. This is said to be the real secret aggressive policy that the Lake Shore road has recently assumed in regard to the east bound rates while it is nominally fighting the Grand Trunk Railway on differentials, its war is really being made on the Canadian Pacific. The same policy is to be pursued toward it as the New York Central followed in regard to the West Shore.

HE INSULTED A BALLET GIRL.

A Measure Makes a Remark About a Girl and the Mayor Sizes the Consequences.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, June 18.—Moses in Egypt is the title of a spectacle to be presented by the order of Cincinnatus this fall. For a month five hundred ballet girls who are to form one of the features of the event have been nightly drilling.

Care is taken to have the girls all of the same size. To secure the latter the expedient measure is taken. Some days ago Sallie Hicks was being measured, when leads the dance and [illegible] with the ballet. [illegible] the measurer made some remarks about her figure. This led to a quarrel which resulted in the girl's dismissal. When at last the tailors met and measured the second who had been dismissed [illegible] a body. Gordon Wayne, [illegible] business man, and one of the [illegible] on the ballet field. At the [illegible] row Mayor Mooney [illegible] is the president of the society [illegible] a white hat was being [illegible] over the hall while the girls [illegible] Wayne did not get last half and [illegible] "Sallie Hicks," at the [illegible] prices. The mayor mounted a chair and attempted to address the [illegible] he was hooted down and out [illegible] the ball battled and with a torn [illegible] he sought the street. The girls raised pandemonium for half an hour and [illegible] home. The strike will cost the society much time and a pile of money [illegible] new ballet must be [illegible]. The society claims that Miss Hicks [illegible] herself against the measurer and was discharged for that. The [illegible] so great in the hall that [illegible] people gathered to see what [illegible].

A SERIOUS CHARGE.

The Minnesota Farmers Alliance Accuse the Supreme Court of Sale of a Murder.

ST. PAUL, June 18.—The Minnesota Farmers Alliance issued an address to the people to-day concluding a [illegible] against the Supreme Court of the United States. It says: Very recently United States judge invaded the sovereign state accompanied by an assassin who murdered a citizen of that state. The supreme court stepped in and rescued the assassin, declaring that in such cases the law of the state against murder was of no avail. The state of New York condemned the [illegible] enacted by its legislature. The judge of the supreme court of the United States reached out his hand and took that criminal, not murderer, under his protection declaring that the state could not punish its own murderers except by permission and in the manner prescribed by the federal courts.

HOME AND FOREIGN.

THE QUEBEC ELECTIONS—OPPOSITION LEADER DEFEATED.

Juvenile Polygamy on the Increase—Stanley to Sail for New York in October to Deliver Forty Lectures in America—Other Happenings of Interest.

LONDON, June 17.—Among the gravest questions of the Imperial Legislation which are pressing for consideration, and which must be dealt with in the near future, is that of infant marriages and polygamy in India. A peculiarly revolting case of juvenile polygamy has just been brought to the attention of the Government, in which an eminent Brahmin, living in Bengal, compelled his six aunts, eight sisters and four daughters, all to be married together to a boy nine years of age. The eldest of the eighteen brides was more than fifty years old and the youngest was scarcely three months old and was brought to the wedding wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a brass salver. It is affirmed that this case is by no means extraordinary and that hundreds of marriages equally outrageous are occurring every year among the Kulin Brahmins. The chief difficulty is, that the marriage customs are part of the Brahmin's religious system and that to interfere with them would, therefore, be most bitterly resented. Still it is believed that moral consideration will soon compel England to take the matter up. That a boy of nine years of age should be married to eighteen wives, all in one family, in three generations, and ranging from three months to fifty years in age is too amazing a state of affairs for the British Empire.

THE QUEBEC ELECTIONS.

A Great Victory for Mercier—The Blues Completely Routed.

MONTREAL, June 17.—The Quebec provincial elections came off to-day and, as had been expected, Mr. Mercier was fully sustained, the new constituencies created during the last session have returned Nationalists, with two exceptions. Both friends and foes regret the defeat of Hon. L. O. Taillon, the leader of the opposition, who, it was felt from the first, had been rather over-confident in staking his destinies on the untried county of Jacques Cartier, instead of relying upon the trusted and reliable county of Montcalm. It is understood that the results far exceeded Mr. Mercier's anticipations, even though his colleague, Mr. Turcotte, went to wat in Three Rivers. The Liberals claim a majority for Mr. Mercier of 26, while the Conservatives concede that he is not less than 22 ahead. The following are some of the majorities: De Grosbois, Government, Shepard, about 500; Owens, Conservative, Argenteuil, about 70; Prevost, Government, St. Sauveur, 134; Murphy, Government, Quebec West, 54; England, Conservative, Brome 285; Robertson, Conservative, Sherbrooke, 282; Rochon, Ministerialist, Ottawa County, 520; Leblanc, Conservative, Laval, 90; Fitzpatrick, Ministerialist, Quebec County, 792; Lessard, Conservative, Maskinonge, 52; Gosselin, Ministerialist, Iberville, between 150 and 200. It may almost be said that the contest has been an opposition Waterloo.

Reports from sixty five constituencies give the Mercier Government forty-six seats and the Opposition nineteen, with one constituency to hear from and four elections to take place in outlying constituencies. The Government majority will range from twenty-five to thirty, according to the Independent vote. The Government majority in the last House was sixteen. This is a great sweep for Mercier.

The following Liberals were elected by acclamation: Bonaventure, Mercier; Charlevoix, Jos. Morin; Joliette, J. Barlnet; Lochelaire, Laliberte; Montreal, No. 6, J. McShane; Quebec East, Jos. Shehyn; Quebec Centre, Dr. Rinfret. The Conservatives elected by acclamation are: Montreal, and W. J. Poupore in Pontiac.

Indian Troubles.

EL PASO, Tex., June 18.—A freight train which arrived over the Southern Pacific Railroad to-day reports that when they arrived at Leper station, just this side of Lordsburg, Mon., that the place was in commotion on over the arrival of a cowboy, half naked, mounted and with his feet covered with cuts and bruises, from having run ten miles from a ranch north of Leper, where he and ten other men were corralled. He stated that about ten o'clock last night a band of Indians surprised and shot them down as they jumped up to run. He thought there were about twenty-five or thirty Indians in the band. The cowboys had been in bed a short time when the attack was made. Some of them were armed, but did not have their guns handy, not expecting to need them on the warpath in this section. Eleven men in camp and [illegible] all except [illegible] were killed. Reports were received at Lordsburg and Deming [illegible] to go out and hunt down the Indians. Soper is 75 miles west of this city.

THE CATHEDRAL BAZAAR.

Opened at 11 O'clock To-Day—A Very Successful Affair.

The appearance of Philharmonic Hall has undergone so great a change since the close of the polls last Friday, that the ones who went there then to cast their ballots for "honest" government will scarcely recognize the place when they go there this evening to meet the ladies in charge of the Cathedral Bazaar, and by their liberal patronage contribute towards building the magnificent new church which is proposed, and which will undoubtedly be the finest edifice in British Columbia when completed, a credit to the city, and a matter of special congratulation to those who help even in a small way to build it.

The election booths have been removed and in their place seven handsomely decorated booths or stands have been arranged along the walls, upon which a large variety of beautiful and useful articles are displayed.

Beginning at the right as one enters the door is a booth devoted to children's clothing in charge of Mrs. Geiger, Mrs. Edward McQuade and Mrs. Beckingham. Every variety of children's clothing are on sale at moderate prices, and mothers will do well to look "at the tasteful and well selected stock" these ladies have on hand, to speak in the phraseology of the Government street dry goods merchant. Booth No. 2, presided over by Miss Cameron, is loaded down with all kinds of fine candy, and will be one of the most attractive stands at the bazaar, as the young ladies will undoubtedly make their wants known to the numerous beaux who will be in attendance to-night. They also sell cigars at this stand.

The Sodality table is next in order, and here are an almost endless variety of handsome articles. A crayon picture of Father Van Nevel, executed by the sisters, occupies a conspicuous place at one end, and even at this early hour a large number of tickets have been sold for the chances in it. A beautiful water color picture of the romantic ruins of Holy Cross Abbey, near Thurls, County Tipperary, Ireland, which was founded in 1182, is also on this table. There is a large painting donated by Mr. Joseph Sommers, and a pretty square stand of finish and hand-painted silk given by Miss McDowell, and many other valuable and beautiful articles.

Next comes the toys, with Miss Mills and assistants to dispose of the large quantity of toys to the good little girls and the good little boys, and the older people will keep right on to the fancy table presided over by Mrs. Haynes and Mrs Lubbe. A beautiful fire screen made by Mrs. Haynes attracts much attention. It is composed of three silken hand-painted panels, on the center one a wreath of roses, and the two side branches of trees with birds, the whole richly decorated with green plush. Other noticeable articles at this richly laden booth, are a beautiful easy chair of dark green plush and heavily embroidered satin, a silver water pitcher, and a set of silver egg cups and spoons.

The doll table is in the care of Mrs. Smith, and comes next in order. There are many articles besides dolls to be found here, notably a well-bound copy of the Life of Pope Leo XIII and a pretty Japanese cabinet, both of which are to be raffled. There are wax dolls, rubber dolls, woolly dolls, in fact all sorts and sizes of dolls, mostly dolls.

At the next booth Mrs. Jacob Sehl has a large quantity of white goods of fine material and well made, and although perhaps not so very [illegible] will revel in the delights of the fair [illegible] to-morrow night, still be [illegible] a drawing card. In one corner the Misses [illegible] are doing what they can for the [illegible] ones. The refreshment table [illegible] the principal [illegible] cold [illegible] water, but the [illegible] any doubts on the [illegible] and see.

The refreshment hall is occupied by a large flower booth, and is one of the most attractive places in the building. Mrs. L. G. LATEST NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE REPUBLIC.

The Electric Company Still Fighting the Eire Location Law—The Next Transcontinental Railway—A Swimmer's Wonderful Feat—General News Notes.

Legal steps are being taken in behalf of the Workinghouse Electric Company to prevent the use of its vibratory current dynamos for the execution of murderers in New York state. The action is in the form of a writ of replevin to regain possession of the three dynamos of the company's patent now in the state prisons, which Harold P. Brown, the electrical expert, purchased for the state. The Workinghouse company claims to retain a proprietory interest in the dynamos that it sells, alleging that the machines are merely leased to customers, after the manner of the Bell Telephone company in leasing its telephones, and the company will now seek action to restrain the state from employing them for the purpose of executing criminals. The whole claim is that Brown illegally and fraudulently obtained possession of them by a collusion with the company's customers, who, having a lease, held possession of the dynamos in question. This will prove a novel and interesting question.

A BONANZA SILVER LEDGE.

Dexter Shoudy, who has returned from the Swauk placers in Washington, reports great excitement there on account of the discovery by Thomas Bowman at Eilem of a rich silver ledge which assays over $2000 to the ton. It has been uncovered for a distance of twenty-five yards and shows a width of three feet, being clear, well-defined and unbroken. It promises to be one of the biggest bonanzas in the country.

ROSS BUCKLEY MARRIED.

The marriage of Miss Annie Hurley, of Boston, and Christopher A. Buckley, the notorious San Francisco politician, took place in the cathedral, Boston, on Monday. After the ceremony the couple left for New York.

A SWIMMER'S GREAT FEAT.

"Gene" Mercadier, the Southern crack swimmer, swam across the East River, New York, from the Brooklyn navy yard to pier 19, East river, on the New York side in forty-five minutes. His arms were bound together with twenty-five feet of rope and two leather straps. In each of his hands he held a two-pound dumb-bell.

ESTATE OF BONANZA FLOOD.

The executors of the last will of James C. Flood, deceased, have filed a final account in San Mateo and petitioned for their discharge and distribution of the property among the heirs. The account shows that the amount of the property, as per inventory, is $2,381,555. The total claims allowed against the estate amount to $502,003.

THE NEXT TRANSCONTINENTAL.

A newly projected railroad has just issued its prospectus. The name signed to it is Thomas Breen. The road is to be called the Virginia, Missouri and Western. It is to run from Norfolk, Virginia, through Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Missouri, Arkansas, Indian territory and Texas to New Mexico, where it will make connection with lines running to San Francisco. According to the prospectus a preliminary survey has been made and estimates show that the whole project is to cost $70,000,000. The intention is to have the main line from Portsmouth, Virginia, to Belmont, Missouri, within three years from next January. All the bonds are to be secured by one blanket mortgage on all the present and future property of the company. A new line of fast steamships is to be run in conjunction with this railroad from Norfolk, Virginia, to Milford Haven, in Wales, the nearest British port.

AWAITING DEATH.

Edmund Corriveau is awaiting an awful death at Bellevue hospital, N.Y. He was bitten by a rabid dog on a farm near Harrisville, Rhode Island, a short time ago, and has since developed incipient hydrophobia, from which he will undoubtedly die within a few days, as the Pasteur treatment would be unavailing in his case. Dr. Paul Gibier, director of the Pasteur institute in West Tenth street, was consulted as to the expediency of inoculating Corriveau, but he declined to treat the patient, as there is no possible hope of preventing fatal termination of the malady by inoculation after the disease has made its appearance.

LOVE AND LESSONS.

The Battle Creek, Michigan, college proposes to stand in with the other places of learning, although the faculty has made strenuous efforts to keep the facts from the public. Two students, accused of making too free with the opposite sex, have been expelled, and their class is in high dudgeon over the affair. They declare that they will never submit to the injustice put at the same time the students remain expelled, and there is no probability that the faculty will recede from its position. During the past term eight students have been expelled, and all for the same offence.

WHAT MAY OCCUR IN VICTORIA.

A telephone wire at the corner of Third and Pike streets, Seattle, went to the ground, and several unhappy incidents followed. The wire fell across an electric-railway wire and a strong current of electricity passed into it. Some small boys from 10 to 14 years of age happened near the spot a few moments later, and two of them accidentally touching the wire, received a slight shock and quickly placed themselves at a distance sufficient for their own safety. But a young lad who joined the first boys a little later fell a victim to what soon proved a most serious joke. The other boys advised him to go up and take hold of the wire, which he unsuspectingly did, grasping it with both hands. He instantly received such a shock that his hands were seriously burned from contact with the charged wire.

The arrangements for a great summer carnival to commence on the 30th and last four days, at Toronto, are being pushed to completion by an energetic committee, and it is safe to say that the celebration will eclipse anything of the kind ever attempted in Canada. An epidemic of rabies exists in the neighborhood of Dorchester, Ont. A sheep was bitten by a mad dog, and before it could be destroyed it had bitten a horse, cows and pigs. The Provincial board of health offer to pay one-third of the expense in connection with sending the man to the Pasteur Institute, New York, if the county will pay the rest.

STANLEY'S LECTURES.

To Deliver Fifty in the United States—Other Lectures Coming.

LONDON, June 13.—It is stated that H. M. Stanley will sail for New York with his wife on October 28th. Stanley has concluded arrangements to deliver fifty lectures in the United States during the fall and winter. For the lectures delivered in New York he is to receive £3,000, and for each lecture thereafter, in the various cities, he is to receive £200.

Another cable says: Maj. Pond signed yesterday contracts with Stanley to deliver fifty lectures in America, beginning November 11. Mr. Stanley sails with his wife on the Teutonic October 29, four days after receiving the degree of LL.D. from Cambridge. He gets $25,000 for his first lectures in New York city, $1,000 for each lecture in eighteen of the other principal cities and is guaranteed for the fifty lectures $36,000. This is nearly double what he got the last time. No contract has been signed with Prof. Bryce, but Pond says it is almost sure he will lecture in America next autumn. Sir Morrell Mackenzie has signed a contract for twenty lectures, beginning in October in Toronto. His second daughter, Hilda, will accompany her father to America. The eldest daughter, Ethel, will be married early in August to a nephew of Sir Joseph McKenn. Another lecturer Pond has engaged is Louis Fagan, the head of the department of prints and drawings in the British museum. The subject will be the treasures of the British museum. Frederick Villiers has also signed for a return trip.

HERE'S A BRAVE MAN.

Speaks His Mind About Prize Fights—Brutal Exhibitions.

SACRAMENTO, June 17.—Gov. Waterman to-day addressed a letter to Attorney-General Johnson on the subject of prize fighting, in which he says:

I desire most sincerely to draw your attention to the fact that the state has been thoroughly and completely disgraced by the maintenance of organizations given up to degrading and disgusting exhibitions of brute force and so-called scientific contests between so-called scientific athletics, which are nothing more or less than prize fights, in opposition to the decency and good order of society. The law made and provided in such cases should be operative in those localities of the state where these unlawful practices take place. They should no longer be permitted to defame and degrade the soil of our state, and the mere fact that is advanced that their patrons consist of those in the higher walks of life, should be a still further incentive to put an end to the exhibitions alluded to. As it is now, it is an evil and a shame, producing no good. It is a mere speculation by those who pursue prize-fighting as a means of subsistence and support and for gambling purposes.

Will you do me the favor, in the absolute interest of the state, of inquiring into the matter and, if the local officers of the law are not able to cope with the subject, I invite your aid as the chief law officer of the state and ask you to proceed immediately and take such decisive action and measures as will in future preserve and protect from so foul a blot the escutcheon of the state of California. Yours very truly,

R. W. WATERMAN,
Governor.

A Goat That Ate.

The Joss who lives in 16 Mott street, New York, is a fine looking fellow, with a mustache and chin whiskers like bunches of horse hair. His people, once every week, supply the table in front of the shrine where he hangs with all the delicacies of the season. Until two months ago Joss was supposed to stay his appetite by inhaling the aroma of the feast and the smoke of the incense. Every Sunday the stale viands were replaced with fresh food.

One Sunday when the attendant entered the room he found that half of the roast pig had been devoured. He almost fell on the floor with surprise and fright. He looked out of the corner of one of his eyes at Joss, half expecting to see him move; but not even a blink of Joss's slant eyes was noticeable.

The food was there for Joss, and he had a right to eat it if he wanted. But such a thing had never been heard of before. Week after week the food disappeared and the attendant went around among his friends and told them the marvel.

The new mayor and high priest of Joss determined to make an investigation. Accompanied by his secretary and the whole Chinese police department, composed of one man, Foo Yeh, he went to the temple. He searched all the nooks and crannies of the shrine. One or two roaches ran over the carved gilt work, and a big gray whiskered rat fled across the floor and struggled through a hole in the corner. As the mayor turned around he saw sticking out from under the satin robe that covers the sacrificial table a human foot.

"Ai ya," he shouted, pointing at the row of toes. "To la loo la gay yai, yah," or words to that effect. The police and secretary came up, and in an instant the curtain was withdrawn. Under the table lay a wretched, ragged heathen asleep, and by his side was the half eaten ham of a roast pig.

"What you do here?" asked Jew Shing Poo, the mayor, waking him up. "Come, go out of here."

"My go out? My belong allee same one piece Joss. What for my go out?"

His name was Ah Jim, and he showed fight. It was evident that he was demented. A policeman was sent for and Ah Jim was arrested.—New York Sun.

Discoveries on Mercury.

Some very interesting discoveries have lately been made on the planet mercury by Schiaparelli, the great Italian astronomer. Such remarkably acute eyesight has this man that he is able to discover spots on the planet where other astronomers see only a blank surface. By watching and studying these spots during a period of several years, Schiaparelli was able to determine the time of rotation of the planet on its axis and the angle which its equator makes with the plane of its orbit. Schroeter a hundred years ago, noticed a blunting of the horns of the planet when crescent, and from these observations Herchel computed that the planet revolved once in twenty-four hours. Schiaparelli's observations show this to be entirely wrong, for he observed the spots repeatedly on the same day without seeing any signs of rotation. However, from day to day he noticed a slight change in the position of the spots, and finally found that the planet revolved on its axis in the same time that it rotated around the sun, i. e., in about eighty-eight days. It, therefore, always turns the same surface toward the sun, just as our moon does towards the earth.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

How She Behaved.

The negro makes us laugh because he will say things which he should have left unsaid, and say them without the least intention of giving offense. An admirable illustration of this sort of humor is given in Harper's. Briefly told it is as follows:

Samson, the colored janitor of an apartment house in which Mr. and Mrs. Robinson occupy a flat, is not treated by their Irish cook with the deference which he thinks due to his position.

One morning when, at the going up and down of the coal scuttle, Samson had been worsted in a wordy encounter, his wounded dignity could stand it no longer. Stopping Mr. Robinson on the front stairs, he complained to him of his sharp tongued servant.

What Samson wished to say was that the girl assumed as much authority as if she were one of the ladies of the house. What he did say was this:

"Mr. Robinson, that girl of yours has ordered me round, an' yelled at me down the elevator shaft, an' throwed me an' jawed me until you'd have thought it was Mrs. Robinson herself!"

AUSTRALIAN DOG MEN.

Human Beings That Scent Game with the Keenness of Canines.

In the far north of the great island-continent of Australia, there are certain tribes of natives, ferocious savages in their natural state, but easily tamed by kindness, who have a wonderful power of sight and smell, by which they are enabled to procure their food in a trackless wilderness where otherwise they would always be in danger of starving to death.

They are trained from childhood to notice all natural objects, not as we ordinarily notice them, just glancing around us and taking in the general effect, but so closely and carefully that not the slightest thing escapes their observation.

These people in Australia might be called "All Eyes and Nose," for they never go anywhere without seeing and smelling every thing that is to be seen and smelt. They are the only human beings I ever met with who use their scent as well as their sight, as animals do, for finding their way, pursuing or escaping from their enemies, or picking up their living.

If a particular bird sits on a particular tree they can tell why it does so and, by using their eyes and nose, they often get the food which the bird expected to get. If a snake has passed over the ground they can see where the tiny mosses and leaves were pressed down or turned aside in its zigzag path, and when it has crossed some place where there is nothing but hard earth they can still follow it by the smell it has left and track it to its hole and entice it out and catch it with a forked stick so that it can not bite them.

The kangaroo is one of the hardest of all animals to hunt by scent, because it leaps twenty or thirty feet at a bound, and only touches the ground for a moment with its horny hind feet before it leaps again. The keenest of dogs are sometimes thrown off the trail by this eccentric mode of progression. But not the natives.

If they can not see the marks where the kangaroo came down they can smell the place; and if they can not smell it, because they are too far to the right or to the left, or too far ahead, or not far enough, a quick, sharp glance to either side, in front and behind, soon sets them right again. One sense or the other is sure to be available; and in many instances the two work together admirably, just as a champion ball-player's eyes and hands work together without his knowing how.—Philadelphia Press.

From Five Points.

For really gentle, girlish grace and refinement would you be apt to look in the neighborhood of the notoriously rough and tough Five Points. Hardly. Yet here is a curiously contradictory case. A professional gambler, and ward politician, "a man of influence" in that quarter, had a pretty daughter. She was literally reared in the slums, and, although she went away for education, her social connections were with people congenial to her reprehensible sire. A year ago she made her debut as an actress. Her father had long been a butt for printed ridicule, and so, when she was announced to act at a Bowery theatre matinee, fun was anticipated. But she acquitted herself so respectably that nobody laughed at her, and the affair was not noticed by the press. Well, I went last night to see a beautiful and elaborate production of Shakespearian comedy in a fashionable Broadway theatre, and there was the Five Points girl enacting a dainty and difficult character in the nicest, neatest manner imaginable. Every word that she uttered and every movement that she made was an expression of ideal gentility. She was just the sort of girl of whom you would say, in case you believed any of the nonsense about high born æstheticism, here is a daughter of well bred generations.—Miss Lookabout's New York Letter in Boston Herald.

How to Enjoy Winter Baths.

Probably nothing is so neglected during winter time as bathing. There is a natural dislike to bathing when one gets chilled afterward. This could be avoided, writes a doctor in The [illegible] heated all the time, not just when one wants to bathe, but continually during the day and evening. The trouble of starting a fire often deters one from taking a bath. The bathrooms should be heated very warm, not merely enough to take the "chill off the air," but enough to prevent the bather receiving a chill after his bath, and to permit him to bathe without hurrying.

FOREIGN GOSSIP.

—There is no taxation upon either real or personal property at Para, but when a piece of real estate is sold the purchaser is required to pay a fee to the government of five per cent. on the selling price.

—The bastinado is still in use in Hungary to make refractory peasants testify about accomplices or as to their own misdeeds, and the Hungarian press has recently engaged in a campaign against this relic of barbarism.

—The total number of animals in the Zoological Garden, London, is stated in the annual report to be 8,900. The annual income of this society is over $100,000. They lost nearly 1,000 animals last year, but the additions by purchase and gifts were 1,121.

—The Emperor of China had to choose between depriving his sheep and goats of their pasturage on the lawns around the Temple of Heaven and having an open quarrel with his mother, the dowager Empress. He preferred the latter.

—An organization called "The Medical Defense Union" has been formed in London, which, upon the annual payment of ten shillings by a doctor, guarantees to defend him against any charge made with a blackmailing or other improper purpose during the year. Branches of the organization are to be established throughout Great Britain.

—A curious exploration is now being undertaken in a vast region of Scandinavia, which has practically run wild for nearly a hundred years, when whole villages, as well as homesteads and farms, were deserted on account of an epidemic. The tract has been bought by a London syndicate, who have commissioned Sir H. Pottinger, one of the pioneers of Norwegian travel, and J. Sargent, the well known Oxford "coach," to report upon this almost forgotten territory.

—The proposed ship canal across Italy, to connect the Tyrrhenian sea with the Adriatic, is expected not only to afford improved water communication for many places, but to facilitate the drainage of marshy districts and to render 179 square miles of lake area fit for cultivation. The canal would be 124 miles long, 253 feet wide and 40 feet deep, and its cost is estimated by Signor Bocca at $125,000,000.

—When the Shah of Persia visited Vienna one of the first things called to his attention was the fact that his representative in that city was overwhelmingly in debt, and an immense mass of unpaid bills was produced in proof thereof. Instead of evincing any anger, the bills were at once paid, and a gentle hint was conveyed to the impecunious Minister that he might easily avoid embarrassment in the future by the sale of Persian concessions, titles, decorations, etc., so dear to the heart of the wealthy but untitled commoner.

—Sculptors in Europe are greatly annoyed at the Italian pirates who have been imitating their best works and inundating France, England and the United States with terra cotta reproductions of some of the best examples of French statuary art. The visits made by the police to the workshops of the Transalpine contrabandists have led to some remarkable revelations respecting the ways and means of the "sculpture pirates." At the house of one Gasparini, a molder of Montreuil, there were found eight imitations of Falguiere's Diana. A hack artist had made a copy of the original, and from this a plaster cast was taken, this serving as a model for the statuettes, which were sold for five, six or ten francs each.

He Respected the Hat.

When Chicago's Apollo commandery of Knights Templar went on a trip to Europe, Judge Bradwell was an honored member of the party. Now wherever Judge Bradwell goes he is bound to inspect everything that is to be seen. In London the lord mayor gave a dinner to the commandery, with all the pomp and ceremony of such an affair. Judge Bradwell had a front seat; and, mayhap, a tab on this red letter occasion. The lord mayor's herald, who officiated at the banquet, wore a wig, upon the top of which was perched a small three cornered cocked hat, boy's size, and the report fled around the table that this hat was 200 years old. Everybody wanted to see it. When the report reached Judge Bradwell he thought he must see the hat, so he asked the herald to hand it over. That dignitary straightened himself up and addressed the lord mayor as follows: "My lord, the gentleman from Chicago wishes to see the 'at." The lord mayor solemnly arose, and with a grand wave of his hand, said: "E 'as 'e." Then the judge carefully inspected the 200-year-old headpiece, or "'at."—Chicago Herald.

THE ALTERNATING CURRENT.

It appears that the Westinghouse Electric Company have been behind KEMMLER in his long fight against death by electricity. It employed counsel to defend him, hired lawyers without consulting him to appeal for injunctions, and procured the final appeal of his case to the supreme court. "It has carried on," says the Oregonian, "the longest and hardest fight ever made to save the life of a condemned criminal, not because it cared a rap for KEMMLER, but because it feared deterioration of the commercial value of the patent through the use of the device in causing death upon the scaffold. It feared the unreasoning public antipathy against a form of application of electric energy which the State had chosen as the most sure and deadly for the purpose of taking life." The Westinghouse Electric Company is more nice than wise, has more money than brains. But has it never occurred to anybody that all this pother on the part of the company has a deeper motive than the one alleged? Is it not reasonable to suppose that the WESTINGHOUSES' defence of KEMMLER is nothing more nor less than an advertising dodge. That the alternating current covered by the WESTINGHOUSE patent should fall into disrepute because it is used for "taking off" criminals is about as reasonable as if people should refuse to use rope because it was used for hanging. The Westinghouse company cannot be unaware of this. Fools they are not, and so we may infer that their alleged Quixotic attempt to prevent their patent from being used as a shuffler off of the mortal coil of criminals is nothing more than an attempt to give themselves the extreme prominence that would accrue from so sensational a proceeding. Doubtless at the outset, as alleged, the company were averse to their system being used for the purpose in question. Reflection, however, must have convinced them that the value of their machines for practical purposes in this practical age would in no sense be impaired. Finding at last that protest was unavailing, it was an easy step to conceive that to fight the matter in the courts would attract world-wide attention. The Westinghouses, as advertisers, carry away the palm.

THE COLONIST'S OPTIMISM.

The Colonist, with an optimistic pertinacity which does infinitely more credit to its heart than to its head, manages to extract comfort out of the recent elections. The difference between the number of votes cast for the Government and the combined Opposition and Independents is something like three thousand. The Government polled something like 7500 votes, the combined Opposition and Independents 10,500. The difference of three thousand votes in the voting population of this Province is considerable, and particularly when we bear in mind that in Victoria alone that difference amounts to over fifteen hundred. The Colonist, however, seems to derive its comfort in the reflection that if you scratch an Independent you find a Government man. This may be, but it should appear to our obtuse contemporary that it is possible that the Independents have some self respect, and that consequently, they can have nothing in common with JOHN BOSSON's little confidence game. [illegible] the benefit of the Colonist we publish some extracts from the Mainland papers:

Vancouver Telegram: The refuge of its supporters in the numerically small electoral districts was all that saved it (the Government). In fact, even with these pocket boroughs at its disposal, had the Government not tacked on the three additional seats on the Island and restricted the Mainland to three additional it would to-day be in a minority. The Government will have a healthy Opposition to hold it in check during the next four years, if indeed it be not defeated altogether. Had the Government not been so strong the last four years it would not now be paying the penalty of blunders it has perpetrated, either by being purposely blinded to them or from lack of careful oversight and criticism of its acts.

Vancouver News: We observe that some of the organs of the Government, realizing as they do that the result of the elections last Friday have greatly weakened its position, are attempting to divert attention from that fact by making false statements as to what the relative strength of the different parties will be in the House. Nothing could be more injudicious on their part if they really desire to serve the interests of their employers. Taking the statement of the only recognized organ of the Government (the others being merely mercenaries, subsidized as occasion may require), the Colonist, it is seen that the Government itself only claims nineteen members, the balance of fourteen being equally divided between the Opposition and Independent parties. The Government, according to its own statement, will, therefore, have a majority of five instead of the twenty-one they had in the last Legislature. Although this may on ordinary occasions prove to be a working majority amply sufficient, it is quite conceivable that on some questions that may arise, the Government will not be able to count on the support of all those who are usually found in the same lobby with itself. It is, therefore, in the Government's interest to refrain from needlessly irritating members who might otherwise be inclined to give it a generous support on any questions on which they are not pledged to act in direct opposition to its policy.

New Westminster Columbian: "The result in Vancouver City is also a distinct Independent victory; and other portions of the Province, and some of the Island constituencies, have decided it to be their interest to return Independent members, so that, as we have already shown, the prospects are that the People's Party will practically hold the balance of power in the next House. While the Opposition has not been strengthened numerically by the elections, the servile Government majority has been swept away and replaced by Independent, able and principled men. This will be a new thing altogether in Provincial politics, and one which cannot but exercise a large and beneficial influence upon the legislation of the country. We congratulate the Royal City, the Lower Mainland and the Province at large, upon the result of the Provincial general elections."

TALLEYRAND'S MEMOIRS.

The reading world need not be told that TALLEYRAND, a contemporary of the first NAPOLEON and one of his ministers, left memoirs of himself which were not to be published until thirty years after his death, or in the year 1868. The memoirs, however, for some reason or other, were not published when the prescribed interval had expired, and even now, 22 years later, or 52 years in all, there does not appear to be much prospect of those valuable papers being given to the world. "It has apparently been given out by the custodian of the memoirs," says the London Times, "that they are so dry and obsolete that no one would care to read them." The Times' Paris correspondent, who is a no less person than Mr. BLOWITZ, thinks differently. This ubiquitous gentleman has seen the memoirs and in support of his opinion that they are worth publishing, has furnished the Times with extracts from them which he had committed to memory. The extracts, unfortunately, are a sealed book to those who are unfamiliar with the French language. Mr. Blowitz, in his letter to the Times, gives the extracts in their mother tongue, nor does the Times itself, in treating the subject editorially, condescend to translate the excerpts for the benefit of those who are so unfortunate as to be ignorant of French. But this is hardly to the point. What we desire to call attention to is the unique method employed by M. BLOWITZ to force the publication of the memoirs. Furnishing the Times with a dozen or so extracts, he exclaims: "Here I pause—my object is very simple—to accelerate the publication of the memoirs, not to take the cream on them. I do not want to coerce, but to persuade. What I have quoted shows the charm and interest of the work, but does not discount its publication, and this I hope will be enough to enforce on the custodians of the memoirs the obligation of reflection before continuing to suppress and to frustrate the legitimate curiosity of the public." A very amiable sort of blackmailing this, and let us hope if mere perversity on the part of the custodians is at the bottom of their refusal to publish the memoirs, the plan of the Times correspondent will prove successful. TALLEYRAND's memoirs cannot help but throw a flood of light on one of the most interesting portions of French history, that relating to the two last decades of the eighteenth century and the first quarter of the nineteenth. Besides TALLEYRAND was an interesting character himself.

PRESBYTERIANISM IN CANADA.

The general assembly of the Presbyterian Church, which met in Ottawa last week, is one of the most important church parliaments in the Dominion. Presbyterianism, observes the Free Press, [illegible] of church government by presbyters, founded in Scotland in the sixteenth century, is still the established church of Scotland, and the religion of the great mass of the Scotch people. The general assembly is composed of delegates from the various local presbyteries. It hears appeals from synods in matters of church discipline, and considers propositions touching changes in the constitution. The census of 1881 showed that the Presbyterian population of Canada to be 676,165; so that the general assembly about to meet here will probably represent 800,000 souls. Presbyterianism has been preached in Canada since the conquest in 1759. The first Presbyterian minister whose presence in Canada is recorded was Rev. GEORGE HENRY, who arrived in Quebec in 1765. He was followed nearly thirty years later by Rev. ALEXANDER SPARK, and in June, 1787, just 103 years ago, the first Presbyterian congregation was organized in Quebec. It was composed chiefly of Scotch soldiers then in garrison there. In 1790 the Rev. THOMAS BETHUNE, a minister of the Church of Scotland, who had served as chaplain to a Highland regiment, preached in Montreal, and afterwards organized several congregations in Glengarry and Prescott. The first Presbyterian church in Montreal was the old St. Gabriel street edifice—recently demolished to make room for an extension to the court house—which was built in 1790. That was, at the time of its demolition, the oldest Presbyterian church in Canada. The pioneer Presbyterian missionaries in Ontario were those sent out by the Reformed Dutch church. Rev. ROBERT McDOWELL came to upper Canada in 1798, and itinerated throughout the Province, aiding in the formation of congregations and the erection of churches, dying at an advanced age in 1841. To Kingston and a few other places ministers were, on application, sent out by Presbyteries in Scotland. In 1825, the Glasgow Colonial society was formed, which provided many ministers for work in Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and other colonies, and from that time forward the church made rapid progress. In 1831 the Synod of the Presbyterian Church of Canada, in connection with the Church of Scotland, was formed. Several ministers from the Secession Church of Scotland came to Canada in 1832. They were organized as the Missionary Synod of the Presbyterian Church. Twelve years later, in 1844, the year after the disruption of the Church of Scotland, divisions occurred in the Canadian branch of the church, as well as in Nova Scotia, and in 1874 there were four distinct Presbyterian bodies in the Dominion. A plan of union was formed in June, 1875, and all the congregations united under one governing body, only a small minority [illegible] the time of the union there were 634 ministers, and 1,119 congregations attached to the Presbyterian church. The Presbyterians are strong in Ontario, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

THE COLONIST AND SINGLE TAX.

Fortune and fame await the man who can answer HENRY GEORGE. Backed by such formidable authority as MILL and SPENCER, who concede that the right to private ownership of land is of questionable morality, HENRY GEORGE has enunciated a system of political economy which as yet remains practically unanswered. Single Tax, as enunciated by HENRY GEORGE, has indeed been picked at. Numerous light-weight political economists have directed their logic against it, but it remains to-day as when it was first offered to the public, the only system of political economy whose fundamental principles cannot be disproved. But the change proposed by HENRY GEORGE is radical. It proposes the complete overturning of the land system of civilization, and the question arises is a change so radical, expedient, would such a change though peaceably accomplished result in more than transitory benefit. It is right here that men differ: Nobody disputes, probably not even the most ultra opponent of HENRY GEORGE, that the nationalization of land would tend to the equalizing of social forces now so fearfully out of balance, but the question arises how long would this state of affairs last, how long would it be before out of the new system new abuses would be evolved as flagrant and as oppressive as those of which we now complain. Thus the matter stands and so will stand for many years to come. The solution of the question awaits the period when the masses, spurred by their necessities, shall demand a change whether it be Georgeism, Bellamyism, or what not. But while all thinking men find in this question something which can only be worked out in the process of time, our contemporary jumps into the fray and pronounces single tax a fraud from beginning to end. It does not show wherein it is a fraud. It simply declares thus the private ownership of land is an inalienable vested right. Now we do not wish to be understood as disciples of HENRY GEORGE. We question the expediency of the radical change he proposes. We do not in fact see how it can be brought about without gross injustice to innocent persons. That however, the public should be fed with shallow assertions, opposed to Georgeism, and that for the purpose of injuring Mayor GRANT, is an abuse of journalistic privilege against which a discriminating public will protest. Mayor GRANT's position on single tax is that of any other sensible man. He perceives that it has virtues but he is not convinced of their practicability. He cannot see how the present system can be adjusted to them without serious injury to conditions, which, if they are not as they should be, at least do not hamper individuality. In charging Mayor GRANT with being an advocate of HENRY GEORGE, it would be as reasonable to accuse the Presbyterian who favors the revision of the Westminster confession of agnosticism. The Colonist is beside itself.

LORD WOLSELEY'S RETIREMENT.

"Lord WOLSELEY's resignation from the active army," remarks the Toronto Globe, "cannot be regarded as more voluntary than BISMARCK's retirement. BISMARCK had ruled Germany long enough and the Emperor got rid of him. WOLSELEY has been active in promoting reforms in the British army and the Tories, characteristically opposed to such things, succeeded in making it so uncomfortable for WOLSELEY that he resigned." "For years back," says the Globe, "a powerful aristocratic clique have worked against Lord WOLSELEY's reforms and suggestions. The old officers who detested the short service reform as much as the abolition of the commission purchase system; those who hated the work put upon them by Lord WOLSELEY's influence; the "good old families" who found their sons debarred from their desired career by their inability to learn enough to pass entrance and promotion examinations; all the fogies and reactionaries have been down on WOLSELEY ever since he began to be an important soldier. In spite of all he has succeeded in improving the army considerably, but now, with a Tory Government in place, his enemies have the whiphand. No doubt he has been incautious in his public utterances. Indeed he has been in the habit of trumpeting his military ideas and even his political and personal prejudices, as though eager for more notoriety. Nevertheless his countrymen have reason to be grateful to him, and they are likely to give him his revenge before long. Freed from official responsibility he may, by speaking in the Peers' House and writing when he pleases push his opinions more forcibly than he could have done even as chief-of-staff."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Women's Enfranchisement Association was in Session in Toronto last week. A resolution was passed declaring the right of women to the electoral franchise and expressing approval of Premier MOWAT's position on the question. The following officers were elected for the general association: President, Dr. EMILY H. HOWE; Vice-President, Mrs. ALVIA PARKER; Recording Secretary, Mrs. S. A. CURZON; Assistant Recording Secretary, Mrs. JACOB SPENCE; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs O'CONNOR; Treasurer, Mrs. JOHN SCALES. In the Ontario Medical Association, which was also in Session at the same time, Dr. J. RICHARDSON, one of Toronto's oldest practitioners, protested against the Association doing more than barely acknowledging the greetings of the Women's Enfranchisement Association. The latter association, he said, had circulated pamphlets whose tendency, if he concluded correctly, was to impair morality at home. A large portion of the audience evidently sympathized with these remarks.

THE COLONIST AT IT AGAIN.

TO THE EDITOR: It appears impossible for the Editor of the Colonist to tell the truth. For example, I find this morning in an editorial of that paper, the following: "And that it was the appropriation of the rent of land without compensation, that Mr. John Grant declared suggested a fair and equitable basis of taxation." When the editor of the Colonist published a like statement some time ago, and kept on reiterating it, I felt compelled to tell him that he lied knowingly. I again repeat the contradiction in the same language, as it is the only positive way of meeting bare-faced lies oft times repeated.

JOHN GRANT.

MUSIC IN THE PARK ON SUNDAY.

TO THE EDITOR:—Judging from the general tendency Mr. Fraser's letter in your issue of yesterday, I apprehend that he objects, not to the City Band being subsidized to play on Beacon Hill, but to the class of music which he thinks it probable that they would play. If that is so, the whole thing resolves itself into the question of "What is sacred and what is secular music?" This may be rather a difficult question for Mr. Fraser to answer, without proving, by implication, that "Yankee Doodle" is as much a sacred as a secular air. Does secular music become sacred by being played in a church, or on a Sunday? If so, there is hardly an opera that does not contain some sacred music; nay, even a visit to a theatre where comic opera is being played may come to be looked upon as equivalent to attending a place of worship, for I have heard "I stand at your threshold sighing," from "Dorothy," played in a church, as also the march from "Falka," the march from "Faust," the Scotch air "Robin Adair" (as a hymn tune) and many other pieces of music which were certainly never written for the purpose of being played in any sacred edifice.

Again, if Mr. Fraser allows that the Salvation Army be a judge of what is sacred music and what is otherwise (as he allows them to be a religious body), then many of the negro melodies, most of the popular hand organ tunes, and not a few of the comic songs of the day, are by this time entirely suited, so far as their sanctity is concerned, for use on Sunday.

Let me remind Mr. Fraser that it is one of Our Lord's sayings that "the Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath;" and again, that in the scriptures the Sabbath is repeatedly spoken of as "a day of rest." Now, to Mr. Fraser, and in fact, to all other clergymen, Sunday is not a day of rest, but because this is so he must not forget that many a hardworked man may be of opinion that listening to a sermon is not the best way of procuring that repose which he so much needs, though it may be often extremely useful as a means to an end.

Then, as to the Colonist Hotel being a trap of the devil, I am of opinion that a man taking his wife and children on to Beacon Hill to hear the music, will be far less likely to spend his time in drinking than he would be when loafing about town with nothing to do, nothing to see, and nothing to hear.

In answering Mr. Fraser's letter I have no motive other than that I feel I am expressing the thoughts of many honest and God-fearing men and women, who do not believe in worshipping the Supreme Being sadly, but who do believe that in keeping his hellest temple (their own minds and bodies) in first class working order, they are fulfilling in the highest degree, His wishes. I am, yours very truly, BEN MCCREE.

MR. MESHER REPLIES.

TO THE EDITOR: I would esteem it a favor if you would insert the following in your next issue:

I did not intend troubling you with respect to the falsehood told you by Mrs. Tyler and printed in your issue of Monday, but I must notice "British Columbian." I dare say he was very badly hurt in seeing his candidate defeated at Esquimalt; but his statement that I discharged a man for voting for the Opposition is false, and on a par with Mrs. Tyler's statement. I deny having acted as "British Columbian" says, as proof I challenge any one of the sixty men who are now employed by me to come forward and state that I in any way influenced them to cast their vote, or even asked either of them to vote on one side or the other.

"British Columbian" wants to know "who Mr. Mesher is?" I am the same Mr. Mesher who gave a man, almost a stranger, about $300 worth of lumber to build himself a house, "without any security," allowing him to work the debt off; that same man I discharged last Saturday for grossly insulting me and not for the way he voted.

In conclusion, sir, if I am to be libelled by "British Columbian" again I hope you will compel him to sign his name so that I may know whom I have to answer and not allow him to fire his false shafts at me from behind the shield of your good nature. G. MESHER.

CAUGHT BY THE CUSTOMS.

A Smuggler Sloop in the Hands of U. S. Revenue Officers.

POINT TOWNSEND, June 17.—Tied up alongside the sloop Annie at the custom house wharf is a sloop of about four tons burden. She was towed into port last night by a custom house sloop, having been captured in the Straits of Georgia Saturday night.

The authorities have suspected for some time that a band of smugglers have been making Saturna Island which is in British territory, their headquarters, and a sloop with inspectors on board has been out ever since the 5th instant watching for suspects. Saturday night two sloops were sighted in the straits, going in the direction of the United States. The Annie gave chase and brought the vessels to a standstill. The sloops were manned by Japanese, who offered no resistance. A close search disclosed nothing of a contraband nature and one sloop was allowed to proceed to Whatcom where the Japs said they were bound, but the larger vessel was taken in tow by the customs officers. The vessel captured is owned by a colored man named King, who lives in Whatcom and who is known to be in league with the smugglers.

King's vessels are unmanned and are engaged in smuggling into British territory contraband goods of all kinds. [illegible] is illegal operations. These vessel do their traveling by night and are seldom seen in the daytime. A test case will be made to see if a vessel, even though under tonnage, can go into a foreign port without clearing at the custom house.

Saturna Island is a regular smugglers' rendezvous. Being so near to Sucia Island, which belongs to the United States, it is a favorite resort for violators of the custom laws. Four white men are known to be interested in smuggling operations, and their boats do work regularly plying from this side of the line to British territory. The men who are all known, are being closely watched, and will be brought to justice sooner or later unless they abandon their illegal pursuit.

THE COLLISION.

The Steamers Premier and Queen Collide at Port Townsend.

PORT TOWNSEND, June 18.—The steamer Premier came in last night about 12 o'clock from up the Sound on her way to Whatcom and Vancouver. As the vessel neared the wharf the steamship Queen was backing out from Quincy street wharf, taking her departure for Alaska. The vessels collided and the upper works of the Premier were smashed to some extent on the starboard quarter. The stem was carried away and one plate on each side of the stem was torn off. The damage will probably amount to $2,000. The extent of the damage to the Queen is not known, but it will probably not be very much as she proceeded to Victoria.

A Warning.

MR. EDITOR,—It is a well-known fact that the majority of people are inclined to look upon a cold in the head as a matter of little importance—involving at the most only a temporary inconvenience. No more disastrous mistake was ever made. The neglected cold in the head is the source of the catarrhal affections with which about seven-tenths of the people of this country are afflicted, and catarrh itself is too often the preliminary stages to consumption and death. The symptoms of catarrh are manifold, but among them may be mentioned, offensive breath; dull, oppressive headache; offensive droppings from the nostrils into the throat and bronchial tubes; deafness or partial deafness; constant hawking and spitting; weak and watery eyes; a hacking cough and feeling of general debility; ringing in the ears and frequent dizziness. These are but a few of the more general symptoms, and those who experience them should lose no time in applying a remedy. Delays are proverbially dangerous, and in the case of this too prevalent disease may lead to death. We offer Nasal Balm to the public as a positive cure for cold in the head and for catarrh in all its forms and stages. Nasal Balm has been tested in thousands of cases, and the testimonials in our possession prove that it is all we claim for it. It has cured other sufferers, it will cure you. It is easy to use, pleasant and agreeable and does not require a douche, or any torturing instrument to apply it. Give it a trial and be convinced of its great efficacy. Sold by all dealers or sent post free on receipt of price 50c. for small or $1 for large size bottles by addressing Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont. daw

CITY AND PROVINCIAL.

SONS OF ENGLAND.

Arrangements Made for Inauguration—The Object of the Society.

About thirty gentlemen were present at St. George's hall last evening for the purpose of arranging for the inauguration of a lodge of the Sons of England in this city. It was decided that District Deputy Rev. Mr. Hobson of Vancouver should direct the inauguration on Thursday evening. A supper will be given in honor of the District Deputy after the inauguration. The objects of the association are "to unite all honorable and true Englishmen, who are in good bodily health and between the ages of 18 and 60 years, in an association for mutual aid; to educate members in the true principles of manhood, whereby they learn to be charitable, to practice true benevolence, and to keep alive those dear old memories of native land; to care for each other in sickness and adversity, and when death strikes down one of their number, to follow his remains to their last resting place. The beneficiary department enables its members to insure their lives for $500 to $2,000. By the payment of a small graded assessment at the death of a member, substantial aid is secured to surviving relatives. Members becoming totally disabled and unable to follow any occupation, receive half the amount insured for, if required; the other half being paid at the time of death."

THE SLAUGHTERHOUSE CASE.

The Charge against L. Goodacre Dropped Until Next Assizes—Another Case.

When Justice Drake took his seat on the bench to-day at the assize court, Mr. P. E. Irving, Deputy Attorney-General rose to say that in view of the fact that the jury had disagreed in the case of Regina vs. Goodacre, he did not think it advisable to go on with the case. He would accordingly ask that the defendant be bound over in his own recognizances to appear at the next assizes. His lordship granted the application.

The case of Regina vs. Parker was then called. It was set forth in the indictment that the defendant did keep and maintain a nuisance contiguous to the Craigflower road, causing much inconvenience to the public. Mr. H. D. Helmcken appeared for the defence and the Deputy Attorney-General for the Crown. A plea of not guilty was recorded, and the following jury drawn: J. F. Becker, foreman, George Lyall, R. J. Styles, Robt. Fish, F. J. Connell, E. Lynch, W. W. Watson, T. A. Pellen, J. A. Northcott, A. C. Flewin, R. Cruickshanks, J. Carpenter.

There being no business to come before the remaining jurymen they were discharged, and the case against Parker was proceeded with.

Congratulations.

Dr. Milne during the last few days has been receiving the congratulations by telegraph from friends in Wellington, Nanaimo and other parts of the Province, also from his old Meaford, Ont. friends, in Port Arthur Mayor which is one from James Conmee, M.P.P., the member elect for West Algoma.

A Painful Accident.

J. Young, a machinist working at the Albion Iron Works, was the victim of a very painful accident this morning. He was at work on an engine when someone working above him let a piece of iron drop which cut his head very badly. Dr. Duncan dressed the wound and the patient was soon able to get around again.

Reported Collision.

It was reported this morning that the Queen of the Pacific and the steamer Premier had collided in Port Townsend harbor. Enquiry at the C. P. N. Co.'s office elicited the information that while the steamers thumped slightly together no serious damage had been done to either. The Queen arrived at the ocean dock early this morning and proceeded north at 10 a. m.

A Good Idea.

The manager of the rice mills, Mr. T. R. Hall, intends to purchase a Gamewell fire alarm box, which will be placed in the yard of the mill premises, so that in the event of a fire breaking out there, no delay will be caused in sending in an alarm. The box will be connected to the general city system, and will work over it, having a distinguishing number of its own. This idea of Mr. Hall's is an excellent one, and will probably be copied by many other proprietors of valuable businesses.

Speedy Trial Preferred.

Mr. J. P. Walls, counsel for the defense, appeared before Justice Drake this morning and asked that a speedy trial be granted to one Wm. Williams, charged with theft. Williams had been committed for trial at the present assizes, and had at first wished for a trial by jury. He had since expressed himself as willing to be tried under the Speedy Trial Act, and he will be so tried.

In the case of J. White, charged with assault on a Chinaman, and for whom Mr. Walls is also defendant, it was shown that the prosecutor could not appear, as his leg was broken, and the bail of the defendant was accordingly enlarged by request.

Degrees Conferred.

It is observed in the Toronto papers of the 11th instant that at the conferring of degrees of Toronto University, the honorary degree of M. D. was conferred on Dr. G. L. Milne of this city. At the same time nine ladies became Bachelors of Arts, one was admitted to the degree of N. A., and the Hon. Edward Blake was admitted to the L. L. D. degree, on which occasion as Chancellor of the University he delivered a brilliant speech. His peroration is a fair sample of his eloquent ovation. He said in concluding: "So may our noble university, our alma mater, rising from her sure foundation, "broad based upon the people's will," rear once again her stately form, fair and tall, pure and bright, majestic and benign, gleaming with the sacred jewels of learning, illuminated by the holy light of truth, and dispensing, through countless generations, unremembered blessings to the land she serves. (Loud and prolonged applause.)"

Conversazione.

The conversazione in the R. E. church last evening was a splendid success, both financially and otherwise, the fancy goods offered for sale finding ready buyers owing to the large number who attended. A good programme was also rendered and much enjoyed by those who were present.

Fatal Accident.

At Vancouver, shortly before six o'clock Monday evening, while the Robt. Kerr was unloading coal into the Parthia, a bucket containing half a ton tipped at a height of forty feet. The coal fell upon four men who were working in the hold. Two were badly bruised on the arms and head; the others, Frank and John Pratt, brothers, were struck on the head. Two hours later Frank died. John lies in a precarious condition.

Mullen in a Muddle.

Charles Mullen, of Seattle, well known in this city, has been arrested for spiriting away a prosecutor in a gambling case. The prosecutor is a Swede named Thomley, and he claims that Mullen used unfair methods to get him out of the way, taking him to Portland, and then leaving him destitute after winning all his money. Thomley got back to Seattle and laid the complaint. Mullen says he can clear himself.

From an Injured Eye.

About two years ago Capt. William Cluness, of this port, was injured by a nail flying into one of his eyes, and since that time has suffered terribly, the pain so affecting his health that he was completely broken down. Last evening death mercifully relieved him from his sufferings, and he passed away at his late residence on View street, at the age of 36 years. He leaves a wife and child who are in straightened circumstances, owing to the long illness of Capt. Cluness. The deceased was well known along the water front, having been in the employ of the local coasting craft for many years.

The Jury Disagreed.

The jury in the case of L. Goodacre, charged with maintaining a nuisance, were out several hours last evening, but failed to agree, and were accordingly discharged. The evidence given by Mr. Geo. Phillips in the case evidently had a good deal to do with the disagreement of the jury, Mr. Phillips attesting to the fact that although living very near the slaughter-house complained of he had never detected any bad smell from it, but had been annoyed and disgusted by the horrible odors arising from a Chinese garden near, where cesspits full of night soil were kept.

Refrigerators.

Mr. Kerr, the general freight agent of the Canadian Pacific railway, has issued a circular to agents of the refrigerator service for that road for the season of 1890. Commencing on June 12th a refrigerator car will be dispatched from Winnipeg to the Pacific coast every Thursday throughout the season. Freight forwarded in this car will be charged 20 cents per 100 pounds in addition to freight, for cost of icing. Butter, eggs, cheese, poultry, fruit and vegetables, when boxed or crated (except onions) and bottled ale or beer, only will be accommodated in this car. Full information can be obtained from Mr. Cameron, local agent for Victoria.

Change of Business.

The handsome drug store at the corner Yates and Douglas street was sold by Mr. E. C. Kellogg yesterday to J. Cochrane & Co. The situation is one of the best in the city, and it is understood a good price was paid for it. Mr. Cochrane was a former resident of this city, but for the past year had been manager of the business of Messrs. G. Kellogg & Co., Druggists, Seattle. He has had an experience of eight years in the drug business, and in December, 1888, passed a very creditable examination in the Ontario College of Pharmacy, Toronto, securing besides the diploma the gold medal for general proficiency and the gold medal in chemistry.

Mr. E. C. Kellogg goes over to Seattle to enter into business with his father.

The friends of Mr. H. A. Munn will be pleased to learn that he represents the "Co." in the new firm.

The Jacots Case.

The Oregonian say: A rather strange story comes to the Oregonian from Victoria of the conviction and imprisonment there for seven months of an American citizen, owner of a vessel, for failing to carry out a contract with another American citizen, for the delivery of certain seal skins taken in the Pacific Ocean. The relation is incomplete in the failure to specify under what peculiar statute of the province a person may be condemned to imprisonment for failure to carry out a civil contract. There must be some explanation in the omitted history of the case, too, of the strange circumstance that a Canadian court is called upon to enforce a contract between two American citizens. Otherwise the case is certainly one that calls for the interference of the American consul.

In relation to the above the TIMES has never been able to understand what power a British Columbia court has to enforce a contract made between two American citizens on American soil. Has annexation taken place and the TIMES not know it. Law is uncertain and at the best expensive and for these reasons Capt. Sol. Jacots had better fight shy of it. Still it would be interesting to know just how far the jurisdiction of our courts extend. If British justice has been strained it is as important to British subjects as to American citizens.

F. Richards, the Champion Boot Black, formerly with W. Whittaker, has taken an 18 months' lease of the Gem barber shop window, 74 Yates street, opposite the Poodle Dog. Call and get a patent leather shine.

Of Interest to Mariners.

The law is to be enforced after July 2nd in relation to the registration of "small ships," viz., such vessels as are not propelled by oars and the act will apply in all parts of the province. All craft are to have their names, port of registry and number on their sterns in letters not less than three inches in length, and the custom house will deliver to all owners registering a license free of all charge, such license, and the register containing the names of the owner or owners of the craft, together with her approximate tonnage. This move is a good one as it provides a protection to owners in the class of vessels mentioned. All changes of owners will also have to be reported to the custom house as soon as transfers are made.

The Slaughter House Case.

The case against John Parker, who was to-day before Justice Drake and a jury, charged with causing a nuisance, was ended by the defendant being found guilty. He was bound over to keep the peace when called upon. It is not likely that further proceedings will be taken if the nuisance is abated.

Among those who will take part are: Misses Tite, Arrowsmith, Cameron, Twiss, Mrs. Simon, Messrs. Kent, Rhodes and Bishop, Panlitt Bros., and Prof. Sharpe, conductor.

An Historical Ship.

The old hulk, C. L. Taylor, which was purchased by Capt. Whitelaw, and which has been taken away to be burnt, has quite a history, she being one of the celebrated "90 day gun boats," built during the American rebellion. She was in several engagements at Galveston, New Orleans, and other places. Capt. Cavin of this city, was [illegible] the same steamer, and [illegible] After the war she was [illegible] private parties, and for many years [illegible] merchant service until her loss.

SPORTING NOTES.

Brief Resume of Sporting Matters Here and Elsewhere.

The new baseball club of New Westminster will be fully organized this week. The material is available to make the best club in the Province, and such an organization will be in the field within thirty days.

The Port Townsend Leader says there is a strong probability that the home team and the Amilies will come together at that city on the Fourth. Manager Lange has received a letter from Victoria which stated that if the A.'s can secure a catcher they will certainly be there. Borthwick, the club's regular "mask," sustained a rupture lately which laid him up.

The management of the Hamilton baseball team have decided to transfer the franchise to Montreal, owing to the lack of patronage.

A DAY OF SPORTS.

The St. George's Society has published its programme for the sports to be held at the Caledonian grounds on Dominion Day. The list includes foot racing, jumping and wrestling for all classes of competitors, base-ball match, and a host of other games of an athletic nature. The prizes are also most liberal. In the evening a dance will be given, and the whole day will be one of fun and sport.

WHEELING.

Several new wheelmen are coming out, though the roads, by reason of the late rains are rather bad. The latest addition is the owner of a new Brantford Safety, whose wheel arrived from the east through Mr. C. W. Minor, the agent, yesterday. These Brantford wheels are all the rage now, and rightly too, for a better machine never was built. Several more are on the way out, and appearances indicate that the Brantford Safety will be the wheel for next season.

A NEW CLUB.

Professor Foster and several young men of this city, are making arrangements for the formation of a new cricket club to be known as the Cosmopolitan. Those who [illegible] the matter are young in [illegible] sport of sports, and the decadence of cricket, which has latterly been noticed may be reversed.

Headaches and fevers to cleanse the system effectually, yet gently, when costive or bilious, or when the blood is impure or sluggish, to permanently cure constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, use Syrup of Figs. *
